Occupation

Mapudungun Language Teacher

Background

Manuel is a 27-year-old Mapudungun language teacher in Temuco City. He is dedicated to revitalizing Mapuche culture in local elementary schools, helping kids connect with their roots. Facing large classes, diverse learning paces, and scarce modern materials, he constantly seeks creative ways to keep students engaged beyond traditional, text-heavy lessons.

PERSONAL

Characteristics

- Empathetic and committed educator.
- Patient with diverse learning paces.
- Culturally conscious and community-driven.
- Creative in designing engaging class activities.

Hobbies and Interests

- Active community participant.
- Volunteering in local health events.
- Studying new pedagogical concepts.
- Hiking and spending time outdoors.

GOALS

Primary goals

- Foster empathy, respect, and self-esteem in a safe environment.
- Adapt lessons so that each student learns at their own pace.

Motivations

- Desire to leave a lasting, positive mark on children's lives.
- Sense of fulfillment from seeing students' genuine progress and achievements.

CHALLENGES

Main pain points

- Managing heterogeneous classrooms with special educational needs.
- Balancing heavy administrative workload with emotional well-being.

Location

Vilcún, Chile

Occupation

5th Grade Student

Background

Alex is a 10-year-old 5th-grade student living in Temuco. He is energetic, very curious about tech, and loves using his phone to play games like Roblox and watch trending clips on YouTube Shorts and TikTok. In school, he gets bored very quickly during traditional classes and lectures, especially when learning Mapudungun through grammar sheets and word lists. He wants activities to be fast, visual, and fun, just like the media he consumes every day.

PERSONAL

Characteristics

- Short attention span for long, text-heavy tasks.
- Highly tech-savvy with touchscreens and mobile games.
- Learns best through touch, play, and visual feedback.

Hobbies and Interests

- Playing Roblox and mobile games.
- Reading fable stories.
- Drawing and customizing video game avatars.

GOALS

Primary goals

- Finish his Mapudungun homework quickly so he has more time to play.
- Win badges, unlock cool rewards, and beat challenge levels.
- Learn to say words correctly without feeling embarrassed in front of the class.

Motivations

- Wants learning to feel like an actual video game, not another boring chore.
- Wants to show off his high scores and achievements to his friends.
- Feels proud when he gets a right answer and receives immediate praise or stars.

CHALLENGES

Main pain points

- Memorizing static word lists is boring.
- No clear guides for correct pronunciation.
- Gets distracted easily by basic interfaces.

Frustrations

- Getting stuck on a word with no help.
- Educational apps that feel like textbooks.
- Fear of mispronouncing words in class.

Imperial, Chile

Occupation

Speech-Language Pathologist
and Mapuche Culture and Language Teacher

Background

Liwen is an outstanding speech-language pathologist and Mapuche culture and language teacher, recognized for her multidisciplinary approach combining intercultural healthcare, language development, and pedagogy. She possesses strong diagnostic and therapeutic skills in human communication, integrating Mapudungun phonetics into her articulation and voice therapy frameworks. Known for her dynamism, professional rigor, and ability to manage socio-educational and clinical projects, her dual background enables her to lead culturally responsive speech therapy interventions that optimize speech and language.

PERSONAL

Characteristics

- Highly skilled in clinical speech-language pathology and bilingual education
- Proactive, dedicated, and community-focused
- Rigorous, organized, and interdisciplinary
- Empathetic, analytical, and committed to language development

Hobbies and Interests

- Researching speech acoustics and comparative phonetics between Spanish and Mapudungun
- Participating in and organizing local community and intercultural gatherings

GOALS

Primary goals

- Develop speech therapy assessment and intervention strategies tailored to bilingual language development (Mapudungun-Spanish).
- Expand her educational and speech therapy support programs across more schools and healthcare centers.

Motivations

- Ensure that speech-language pathology services in the region respect and value children's sociocultural background.
- Enhance communicative development and language revitalization through scientific and intercultural foundations.

CHALLENGES

- Design and standardize speech therapy assessment tools that account for the phonetic nuances of indigenous languages.

- Coordinate multidisciplinary teams across the healthcare and education sectors.
- Train healthcare and education professionals on language development milestones in intercultural settings.
